Q1

Data analysis and insights

Parents fear online gaming more than they understand it. More rules did not mean fewer fights. Curiosity did.

Infographic · 5-slide carousel · analysis workbook

Q2

10 Instagram posts

Original posts for emotional wellness across 5 videos, 2 carousels and 3 single images, aimed at corporates, students and professionals.

All 10 shown inside, with hook and audience

Q3

Founders Program pitch deck

A 10-slide deck for VCs and incubators. The founder pays ₹6,000 to ₹12,000 a program, the fund pays ₹0, and the ask is one introduction.

HOW TO READ THIS

Where to find everything

| | What it is | See in this PDF | Separate file in the upload | Online (opens without sign-in) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Q1 | Infographic + 5-slide carousel + workbook | Pages 3 to 5 | Q1_Infographic_and_Carousel.pdf · Q1_Insights_Workbook.xlsx | Carousel online · Workbook online |
| Q2 | 10 posts: 5 videos, 2 carousels, 3 images | Pages 6 to 9 | Q2_All_10_Posts.zip (5 videos + the images) | Video links on page 7 |

Parents fear gaming more than they understand it

The one-line answer: curiosity, not more rules, is what eased the strain.

The survey: 100 parents, 1 to 3 Dec 2020. One duplicate removed, which leaves 99. Of those, 66 said their kids play online games and answered the full form. Every percentage below is out of those 66.

94%
worry their child could get hooked

6 in 10
feel frustration at home (64%)

1 in 2
feel strain in their bond (55%)

Other big worries: grades 91%, unsuitable content 88%, health 83%, aggressive behaviour 79%. Aggression ranks last, so YourDOST should lead with addiction and study time, not violence.

The two findings that are not obvious

1. The loop. Worry and conflict at home rise together (Spearman $\rho \approx 0.58$, the strongest link in the data). The number of rules a family sets does not ($\rho \approx 0.06$). Control is not the fix.

2. The way out. Where parents understand why their child plays, 48% feel strain with the child. Where they do not, 79% do.

How: frequency tables, Spearman, Mann-Whitney U, Kruskal-Wallis and 7 chi-square tests in Numiqo, $\alpha = 0.05$. These are associations, not causes, and the sample is small. The infographic says so.

One image that tells the whole story

Why it is built this way

- Starts where parents are. "Just 5 more minutes!" makes any parent say "that's me" before a number appears.
- Three numbers, three feelings: worry, frustration, strain. It moves gaming from a screen-time topic to a family wellness topic, which is YourDOST's space.
- Calm, not scary. Fear goes with conflict at home, so a scary campaign could feed the problem. It names the worry, normalises it and gives one small action.
- Ends with a kind task. "Try this tonight, just for 10 minutes" with three questions to ask, then "Talk to a YourDOST expert".
- Honest. The source line, base of 66 and "associations, not cause" are printed on the image.

Swipe version for Instagram

Hook, feelings, other worries, the loop and the way out, then the action. Open online: carousel PDF · analysis workbook (every number traced to the survey rows).

Lead with the feeling

Each slide says how it feels first, then gives the number. Parents see themselves before they see a statistic.

Calm, then one small action

No alarm. Name the worry, normalise it, then offer a 10-minute task for tonight.

Two formats, one story

The infographic works as a single share on LinkedIn and parent groups. The carousel gives Instagram a swipe-and-save version.

10 original posts, one positioning line

Short format, one or two lines per post. The line behind all ten: YourDOST is a confidential expert who is as easy to reach as a friend, by chat, call or video, 24/7.

Formats

5 videos (3 reels, 2 motion posts with voices), 2 carousels, 3 single images. Every slide carries the logo badge.

Audiences

Corporate buyers (HR, managers, employees), students, young professionals, high achievers, and anyone marking Diwali or a hard week.

Engagement

Each post ends on something to do: send it to a colleague, tag someone, save it, or answer a question in the comments.

Two originals use a format I have not seen in this category: inner captions (a video call whose captions show what people think) and a museum wall label for a painting of “I’m fine”.

One coach for every founder, at zero cost to the fund

Package and price I would take to VCs

The founder pays; funds pay ₹0 and their founders get 10% off. Anchor: ₹1,500 for a 40-minute call, close to YourDOST's ₹1,299 to ₹1,599 sessions and about 13× cheaper than an executive coach.

Why it works

About 50% gross margin and 6.1× value per founder against cost to win them by Year 3. Built on 250+ founders already coached and 30 lakh+ sessions.

The next three pages show all 10 slides. The editable deck is attached as the Q3 file.

02 THE PROBLEM

Founders carry the risk alone, and rarely ask for help.

WHO FEELS IT MOST
Founders of young startups, who are raising money, hiring and running low on cash at once. Only 57% feel well, vs 74% of experienced founders.

WHAT HAPPENS TODAY
Most keep it to themselves. Decisions get harder and co-founders fall out. Co-founder fights are behind 65% of failed high-potential startups.

THE EVIDENCE

49% of entrepreneurs have lived with a mental-health condition

42.9% of Indian founders score low on wellbeing today

15.1% of startup people ever get professional help

FEEL WELL, BY FOUNDER EXPERIENCE

Early-stage — 57%
Six-plus years — 74%

WHY NOW

-17% Less money for startups in 2025, so founders wait longer to raise again

US$14 bn Lost by Indian companies every year as stressed staff miss work or quit

2020 US investors like Freestyle Capital began paying for founder therapy

03 THE SOLUTION

A coach in every founder's corner.

Private, coach-led and backed by psychologists. The founder chooses it, pays for it and owns it.

HOW IT WORKS

1 Assess — WEEK 0 — A 5-minute wellbeing check
2 Match — WITHIN 48 HOURS — A coach matched to each founder
3 Talk — DURING THE PROGRAM — Regular 40-minute calls, with worksheets in between
4 Measure — PERIODICALLY — Progress checks, experts on call

WHAT FOUNDERS TALK ABOUT Co-founder conflict · Stress and anxiety · Negative thoughts · Focus · Relationships · Confidence

HOW TRUST IS DESIGNED

Your fund (pays ₹0) — opens the door (one intro · a 10% perk) → Your founder (owns it) — chooses and pays (privately, ₹1,000-1,500 a week) → YourDOST

Only an anonymous, opt-in summary comes back. Never names or notes.

What makes it different: it is built for founders, owned by the founder and backed by 30 lakh+ YourDOST sessions. It is not just another app.

04 THE MARKET

A ₹414 Cr need. ₹42 Cr reachable today.

BOTTOM-UP built from founders and what they actually pay

1. Active startups — 1,97,692 DPIIT-recognised - 6,385 closed — 1.91 lakh
2. Founders — × 2 founders per startup — 3.83 lakh
3. The full need — × ₹10,800 a year: a ₹7,700 program, 1.4 times a year — TAM ₹414 Cr
4. Reachable through partners — 17,550 VC-backed + 31,374 incubated founders, less 20% overlap (assumed) = 39,139 founders — SAM ₹42 Cr
5. What we win by Year 3 — 80 partners × 60 founders × 12% (assumed), plus 400 direct = 976 founders — SOM ₹1.0 Cr

Beyond the founder: 21 lakh+ people work at these startups. That is a ₹189 Cr team-wellness market for YourDOST's corporate business.

TOP-DOWN

founders who need support and aren't getting it

All Indian founders — 3.83 lakh
× 42.9% score low on wellbeing — 1.64 lakh
× 84.9% are not getting help — 1.39 lakh

TAM 1.39 lakh founders × ₹10,800 — ₹151 Cr
SAM 14,255 of them reachable through partners — ₹15 Cr
SOM 7% of that by Year 3 (assumed) — ₹1.1 Cr

A different lens: only founders with an unmet need. Our 976-founder plan is about 7% of the reachable need.

05 THE ALTERNATIVES

The real competitor is doing nothing.

We found no founder-only program at scale in India. Abroad, investors already pay for one.

| ALTERNATIVE | WHY FOUNDERS USE IT | WHERE IT FALLS SHORT | OUR DIFFERENCE |
|---|---|---|---|
| Doing nothing | Free, private, no time needed | Only 15.1% seek help, so problems surface late | A coach to call before it becomes a crisis |
| Peer networks (TiE, EO, YPO) | Trusted, founder to founder | Not clinical, and hard to be fully open with peers | Private, trained and clinically backed |
| Therapy apps (Amaha, Lissun, Wysa) | Qualified therapists, easy to use | Built for everyone, not for founder pressures | Made for founders and co-founder issues |
| Employee programs (Optum, 1to1help) | Free through the company | Made for employees; founders rarely use them | Built for the founder, owned by the founder |
| Founder coaches (Reboot in the US, coaches in India) | Built for founders and CEOs | ₹20,000-₹1 lakh a session; Reboot serves the US only | ₹1,500 a call, with psychologists on call |

POINTS OF PARITY qualified experts · private 1:1 · phone, chat, video
